

PIETRO MASCAGNI

CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA

AND

RUGGERO LEONCAVALLO

PAGLIACCI

CONDUCTOR
Fabio Luisi

PRODUCTION
Sir David McVicar

SET DESIGNER
Rae Smith

COSTUME DESIGNER
Moritz Junge

LIGHTING DESIGNER
Paule Constable

CHOREOGRAPHER
Andrew George

STAGE DIRECTOR
Louisa Muller

GENERAL MANAGER
Peter Gelb

MUSIC DIRECTOR
James Levine

PRINCIPAL CONDUCTOR
Fabio Luisi

Cavalleria Rusticana

Opera in one act

Libretto by Giovanni Targioni-Tozzetti and Guido Menasci, based on a story and play by Giovanni Verga

Pagliacci

Opera in a prologue and two acts

Libretto by the composer

Thursday, January 21, 2016

7:30–10:35PM

First time this season

The productions of Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci were made possible by generous gifts from
M. Beverly and Robert G. Bartner, Mr. and Mrs.
Paul M. Montrone, and the Estate of Anne Tallman

Major funding was received from Rolex

Additional funding was received from John J. Noffo Kahn and Mark Addison, and Paul Underwood

The Metropolitan Opera

2015–16 SEASON

The 679th Metropolitan Opera performance of
PIETRO MASCAGNI'S

CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA

CONDUCTOR
Fabio Luisi

IN ORDER OF VOCAL APPEARANCE

TURIDDU
Yonghoon Lee

SANTUZZA
Violeta Urmana

MAMMA LUCIA
Jane Bunnell

ALFIO
Ambrogio Maestri

LOLA
Ginger Costa-Jackson*

PEASANT WOMAN
Andrea Coleman

This performance
is being broadcast
live on Metropolitan
Opera Radio on
SiriusXM channel 74
and streamed at
metopera.org.

Thursday, January 21, 2016, 7:30–10:35PM

The Metropolitan Opera

2015–16 SEASON

The 721st Metropolitan Opera performance of RUGGERO LEONCAVALLO'S

PAGLIACCI

CONDUCTOR
Fabio Luisi

IN ORDER OF VOCAL APPEARANCE

TONIO
George Gagnidze

CANIO
Roberto Alagna

BEPPE
Tony Stevenson*

VILLAGERS
Daniel Peretto
Jeremy Little

NEDDA
Barbara Frittoli

SILVIO
Alexey Lavrov*

CANIO'S TROUPE
Marty Keiser
Andy Sapora
Joshua Wynter

This performance
is being broadcast
live on Metropolitan
Opera Radio on
SiriusXM channel 74
and streamed at
metopera.org.

Thursday, January 21, 2016, 7:30–10:35PM

A scene from Leoncavallo's
Pagliacci

Chorus Master Donald Palumbo
Musical Preparation Donna Racik, Gareth Morrell, Howard Watkins, and Jonathan C. Kelly
Assistant Stage Director Gregory Keller
Prompter Donna Racik
Italian Coach Hemdi Kfir
Children's Chorus Director Anthony Piccolo
Vaudeville Consultant (Pagliacci) Emil Wolk
Assistant Costume Designer Zeb Lalljee
Assistant Scenic Designer, Properties Scott Laule
Scenery, properties, and electrical props constructed and painted by Metropolitan Opera Shops
Cavalleria Rusticana costumes executed by Metropolitan Opera Costume Department; Parkinson Gill, London; and Darcy Clothing Ltd., East Sussex
Pagliacci costumes executed by Metropolitan Opera
Costume Department; Das Gewand GmbH, Düsseldorf; and Scafati Theatrical Tailors, New York
Wigs and Makeup executed by Metropolitan Opera Wig and Makeup Department
Animals supervised by All-Tame Animals, Inc.

* Graduate of the
Lindemann Young Artist
Development Program

Yamaha is the Official Piano of the Metropolitan Opera.

Latecomers will not be admitted during the performance.

This performance is made possible in part by public funds from the New York State Council on the Arts.

Before the performance begins, please switch off cell phones and other electronic devices.

Visit metopera.org

Met Titles

To activate, press the red button to the right of the screen in front of your seat and follow the instructions provided. To turn off the display, press the red button once again. If you have questions please ask an usher at intermission.

Synopsis

Cavalleria Rusticana

A village in southern Italy, circa 1900

At dawn on Easter Sunday, Turiddu is heard in the distance singing of his love for Lola, wife of the carter Alfio. She and Turiddu had been a couple before he went to join the army. When he returned and found her married to Alfio, he took up with Santuzza and seduced her, but now has abandoned her and rekindled his relationship with Lola. Later in the morning, a distraught Santuzza approaches the tavern of Mamma Lucia, Turiddu's mother, who tells her that her son is away buying wine. But Santuzza knows that Turiddu has been seen during the night in the village. Alfio arrives with a group of men, boasting of his horses—and of Lola. He asks Mamma Lucia if she has any more of her good wine. When she says that Turiddu has gone to get more, Alfio replies that he saw the other man near his house that same morning. Lucia is surprised but Santuzza tells her to keep quiet. As the villagers follow the procession to church, Santuzza stays behind and pours out her grief about Turiddu to Mamma Lucia. The old woman expresses her pity, then also leaves for mass. Turiddu appears and is confronted by Santuzza about his affair with Lola but denies her accusations. Just then Lola passes by on her way to church. She mocks Santuzza, and Turiddu turns to follow her, but Santuzza begs him to stay and implores him not to abandon her. Turiddu refuses to listen and leaves, cursed by Santuzza. Alfio arrives, late for mass. Santuzza tells him that Lola went to church with Turiddu and reveals that his wife has been cheating on him. In a rage, Alfio swears to get even and rushes off, leaving behind the now conscience-stricken Santuzza.

Returning from the church the villagers gather at Mamma Lucia's tavern. Turiddu leads them in a drinking song, but the atmosphere becomes tense when Alfio appears. He refuses Turiddu's offer of wine and instead challenges him to a knife fight. Turiddu admits his guilt but is determined to go through with the fight, for Santuzza's sake as well as for his honor. The two men agree to meet outside the village. Alone with his mother, Turiddu begs her to take care of Santuzza if he doesn't come back, then runs off to the fight. As Mamma Lucia waits anxiously, shouts are heard in the distance. A woman runs in screaming that Turiddu has been killed.

Intermission (AT APPROXIMATELY 8:45 PM)

The Met ropolitan
Opera

2015-16 SEASON

Aleksandr Antonenko as Otello

The Metropolitan Opera is pleased to salute
Bank of America in recognition of its generous support during the 2015-16 season.

Bank of America

PHOTO: KRISTIAN SCHULLER / METROPOLITAN OPERA

Pagliacci

A village in southern Italy, 1949

Prologue

Tonio the clown announces that what the audience is about to see is a true story and that actors have the same joys and sorrows as other people.

Act I

A small theatrical company has just arrived and Canio, the head of the troupe, advertises the night's performance to the gathered crowd. One of the villagers suggests that Tonio is secretly courting Canio's young wife, Nedda. Canio warns them all that he will not tolerate any flirting offstage—life and theater are not the same. As the crowd disperses, Nedda is left alone, disturbed by her husband's jealousy. She looks up to the sky, envying the birds their freedom. Tonio appears and tries to force himself on her but she beats him back and he retreats, swearing revenge. In fact, Nedda does have a lover—Silvio, a young peasant, who suddenly appears. The two reaffirm their love and Silvio persuades Nedda to run away with him that night. Tonio, who has returned and overheard the end of their conversation, alerts Canio, but Silvio manages to slip away unrecognized. Canio violently threatens Nedda but she refuses to reveal her lover's name. Beppe, another member of the troupe, restrains Canio, and Tonio advises him to wait until the evening's performance to catch the culprit. Alone, Canio gives in to his despair—he must play the clown even though his heart is breaking.

Pause

Act II

That evening, the villagers assemble to watch the performance, Silvio among them. Beppe plays Harlequin, who serenades Columbine, played by Nedda. He dismisses her buffoonish servant Taddeo, played by Tonio, and over dinner the two sweethearts plot to poison Columbine's husband Pagliaccio, played by Canio. When Pagliaccio unexpectedly appears, Harlequin slips away. Taddeo maliciously assures Pagliaccio of his wife's innocence, which ignites Canio's jealousy. Forgetting his role and the play, he demands that Nedda tell him the name of her lover. She tries to continue with the performance, the audience enthralled by its realism, until Canio snaps. In a fit of rage he stabs Nedda and then Silvio, who rushes to her aid. Turning to the horrified crowd, Tonio announces that the comedy is over.

Pietro Mascagni

Cavalleria Rusticana

Premiere: Teatro Costanzi, Rome, 1890

Cavalleria Rusticana is a story of passion and jealousy in a rough Sicilian village, told with the force of primal myth. The opera is based on the highly influential short story of the same name by Sicilian writer Giovanni Verga, which created a sensation with its straightforward yet evocative prose so radically different from the flowery, dense style that had been common in Italian literature. Mascagni created a musical counterpart to Verga's achievement—his score seems a direct expression of the characters' emotions without any comment or adornment on the part of its author. Cavalleria won first prize in a competition for one-act operas by emerging composers (Puccini was another contestant) and took the operatic world by storm at its premiere. It earned delirious praise and equally vehement antipathy and has never been out of the core repertory. Its success was crucial in launching the verismo movement in opera, inspiring other composers to turn to stories and characters from real life (and often from society's grungier elements). The influence of verismo reached well beyond the dozen operas that can safely be categorized as the core of the genre (perhaps most famously Puccini's La Bohème and Leoncavallo's Pagliacci). It is a strain that has also run through the neo-realist Italian cinematic masterpieces of the mid-20th century, and more recently can be seen in the films of such directors as Lars von Trier. Cavalleria Rusticana, then, is as among the most influential operas and one of the most important in terms of defining the art form as a whole. But beyond any historical considerations, it remains a vital music drama as gripping in many ways as it was at its first performance. The intense characterizations and the plot with its sense of moving toward a cataclysmic ending, all of it deftly woven into an evocative setting, make it one of the most relentlessly exciting works in the repertory.

The Creators

Pietro Mascagni (1863–1945) studied at the Milan Conservatory with Amilcare Ponchielli and even shared a small apartment for a while with fellow student Giacomo Puccini. Cavalleria Rusticana made him rich and famous literally overnight, and although he was not the one-hit wonder he has been labeled by non-Italian critics, his long, varied, and controversial career never quite hit the same apex again. The then-unknown librettists Giovanni Targioni-Tozzetti and Guido Menasci earned praise for their excellent work on Cavalleria Rusticana and went on to provide other libretti for Mascagni, Leoncavallo, and other composers of the day. Author Giovanni Verga (1840–1922) was born in Catania, Sicily, and used the imagery of his native land in his novels and stories. Among these, Cavalleria Rusticana was perhaps the most celebrated, packing a wallop in a mere four pages of razor-sharp prose. Verga adapted the story into a play, featuring the legendary actress Eleanora Duse, that achieved great fame and notoriety in Italy.

The Setting

The setting of Cavalleria Rusticana in the piazza of a Sicilian village is not merely picturesque. The village is, in a sense, a character in the opera, and is key to its dramatic and musical weight. The place is crude, untouched by modernity, close to nature's cycles of life and death and the primitive human rituals associated with them. It's dirt-poor but stabilized by codes of conduct and mores so ancient that no one remembers—or questions—their original intent. The drama unfolds on Easter Sunday. David McVicar's Met production sets the action around 1900, a few years after the opera's composition.

The Music

The score of Cavalleria is direct, unadorned, and honest. Early critics who complained of its crassness and lack of artistry were paying it an unwitting compliment. The famous intermezzo, often heard outside the context of the opera, summarizes its musical plan: gorgeous, melancholy melody carried by unison strings with very little harmonization. The opera opens with the tenor's traditional Sicilian song, performed from a distance and flowing across the empty stage, suggesting a deep connection between characters and their environment. This was a startling effect in 1890 (and the same idea appeared hardly less startling 50 years later in the musical Oklahoma!). The impassioned vocal solos in Cavalleria Rusticana used to be sung with a considerable amount of extra-musical effects, such as sobs, gasps, and shouted words, especially in Italy. This delivery is less in style now. Some artists have pointed out that the secret is to make the audience believe a word has been screamed when it was, in fact, sung. Santuzza, the leading female role, is sung by both sopranos and mezzo-sopranos: her great aria, "Voi lo sapete," is a stirring challenge to the singer's musical and dramatic abilities, and her solo voice leads the impressive Easter Chorus. The tenor's equally impassioned farewell, "Mamma, quel vino è generoso," amounts to a suicide aria as all-encompassing as any in opera, while his confrontational duet with Santuzza becomes a clash of archetypes.

Ruggero Leoncavallo

Pagliacci

Premiere: Teatro dal Verme, Milan, 1892

Pagliacci is a tale of jealousy and murder among a troupe of traveling clowns, a look at the intersection of art and life so definitive that it has in many people's minds come to represent all opera. Written hot on the heels of the success of Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana, Pagliacci consciously utilizes the same verismo techniques in its musical and dramatic core and yet remains a distinct and equally powerful work of theater. While Cavalleria reveled in the realism of a village whose mores were unchanged since pre-history, the drama of Pagliacci found a way to expand the narrative vision of the verismo movement: the second half of the opera is a sort of opera-within-an-opera, and the frivolity of the subject of adultery in the traditional commedia dell'arte presentation of the traveling clowns becomes one of the driving forces of the climactic murder. By drawing this sort of a narrative frame around the on-stage action, Leoncavallo could harness all its irony, tradition, and symbolism while remaining firmly in realism, and using the artifice of theater to emphasize, rather than obscure, the truth of human emotion. Pagliacci, no less than Cavalleria, has seared itself onto the communal conscious well beyond the opera house, and the poignant image of the clown working to make an audience laugh while in a state of despair reverberates to the present day.

The Creator

Ruggero Leoncavallo (1857–1919) studied music in his native Naples and became an ardent admirer of Richard Wagner. He wrote all his own libretti, as Wagner had, and had a checkered, rather picaresque career from Cairo to Berlin. Along with several others, he contributed to the libretto of Puccini's hit Manon Lescaut before the two parted ways. The most notable wedge between them came when Puccini declared he was setting La Bohème as an opera, after Leoncavallo had already announced the same intention to the press. Both were successfully staged, and although Puccini's has become one of the world's most popular operas, Leoncavallo's is still heard on occasion and has received some lasting attention. In fact, several of Leoncavallo's other works have received ongoing acclaim in Italy, but the composer's international reputation rests squarely on his youthful verismo hit.

The Setting

Pagliacci is set in a village in Calabria, in southern Italy. In the mid-19th century, traveling troupes of commedia dell'arte players, interpreting the stock characters of Harlequin, Columbine, and others, were a familiar feature of this landscape. The specified time is the Feast of the Assumption (August 15), a major holiday in Italy. The current production moves the setting to the late 1940s, creating a sense that the story is taking place in the same village as Cavalleria Rusticana, two generations later.

The Music

In some ways, the score of Pagliacci expresses verismo ideals even more impressively than Cavalleria, most notably in the unity of each scene and the seamless transitions between individual solos. After some early scene painting (including the pretty bell chorus), there is scarcely a line of music that does not advance the swift action of the drama. The soprano's aria, "Stridono lassù," shows that even verismo works demand beauty of tone. Likewise, Harlequin's serenade requires elegant phrasing, especially since it is delivered within the framework of a play-within-the-opera. Tonio's opening prologue, "Si può?," a daunting solo traditionally delivered in front of the curtain, is a magnificent tour de force for the baritone (and a superb dramatic touch). There is, as in Cavalleria, a powerful orchestral intermezzo, but Pagliacci is most noted for its Act I climax, the tenor aria "Vesti la giubba," one of the world's most familiar melodies. It was, in Caruso's rendition, the recording industry's first million-seller.

Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci at the Met

Cavalleria Rusticana was first performed by the Met on tour in Chicago in December 1891, paired with Act I of Verdi's La Traviata. Pagliacci followed in December 1893 at the opera house in New York, in a double bill with Gluck's Orfeo ed Euridice. The Met was the first opera company to present Cav/Pag together on December 22, 1893, and this combination soon became standard practice around the world, but occasional pairings with other operas were still common into the early 20th century. Cavalleria and Pagliacci individually shared the Met stage with such diverse works as Il Barbiere di Siviglia, Don Pasquale, Lucia di Lammermoor, La Fille du Régiment, Il Trovatore, Rigoletto, La Bohème, and even Rimsky-Korsakov's Le Coq d'Or. An unlikely double bill of Pagliacci and Hansel and Gretel was especially popular, with almost 100 performances between 1906 and 1938. Among the notable early interpreters of the leading roles were Emma Eames, Emma Calvé, Johanna Gadski, Olive Fremstad, Emmy Destinn, and Rosa Ponselle (Santuzza), Francesco Tamagno and Enrico Caruso (Turiddu), Nellie Melba, Destinn, Lucrezia Bori, Claudia Muzio, and Queena Mario (Nedda), Caruso (more than 100 performances) and Giovanni Martinelli (Canio), and Pasquale Amato (Tonio). A new production in 1951 starred Zinka Milanov and Richard Tucker in Cavalleria and Delia Rigal, Ramón Vinay, and Leonard Warren in Pagliacci. This was succeeded by another new staging in 1958, with Lucine Amara as Nedda, Mario Del Monaco as Canio, and Milanov and Warren reprising their roles. The following production, directed and designed by Franco Zeffirelli, premiered in 1970 with Leonard Bernstein conducting a cast that included Grace Bumbry and Franco Corelli in Cavalleria and Amara, Richard Tucker, and Sherrill Milnes in Pagliacci. Among the many other artists who have appeared in the two operas since the late 1950s are Giulietta Simionato, Eileen Farrell, Fiorenza Cossotto, and Tatiana Troyanos (Santuzza), Teresa Stratas and Diana Soviero (Nedda), Jon Vickers, James McCracken, and Giuseppe Giacomini (Canio), and Cornell MacNeil and Juan Pons (Tonio). Tenors who have faced the challenge of taking on both leading roles include Plácido Domingo, Roberto Alagna, and José Cura. The current production by David McVicar opened in April 2015 with Eva-Maria Westbroek as Santuzza, Patricia Racette as Nedda, and Marcelo Álvarez singing Turiddu and Canio.

Program Note

In 1888 Pietro Mascagni was a failure. His father was a respectable journeyman baker who didn't want any musicians in the family, but the young Mascagni had gone to the Milan Conservatory anyway. He didn't like it, though, finding the disciplines of counterpoint and fugue not suited to his temperament. He soon left to become a conductor in an itinerant opera company, and when that folded he settled in a small town and gave piano lessons.

Then, in 1888, the publishing house of Sonzogno arranged a contest for one-act operas. Mascagni turned to a work of Giovanni Verga's—the short story Cavalleria Rusticana, which had been adapted as a play—and within a few short months wrote an opera. It beat out 72 other contestants and had its triumphant premiere in Rome in 1890. Even the aged Verdi, who had written Otello but not yet Falstaff, conceded that Cavalleria Rusticana wasn't bad: "It has all the elements of success." Although Mascagni lived until 1945 and wrote more than a dozen other operas, his reputation still rests on his early masterpiece, composed when he was 25.

Some time after Cavalleria's premiere, another unsuccessful young man who was earning his living as an accompanist and café pianist set out to try his hand at a similar work. Ruggero Leoncavallo's Pagliacci opened at the Teatro dal Verme in Milan in May 1892, two years after Cavalleria, creating the same kind of sensation. The following year, the Met was the first opera company to present the two works together in one evening—a pairing that soon became standard practice.

In the 1890s both Cavalleria and Pagliacci were thought to represent something new: Tonio, in the familiar prologue to Leoncavallo's opera, goes a way toward telling us what. He appears in front of the curtain to reassure us that this is not just a story; instead he's bringing us a slice of life. (In fact, Leoncavallo claimed, almost certainly falsely, that he had taken his story from an actual court case that his father, a magistrate, had tried.) We will see human passions as they work themselves out in the real world, Tonio continues—love and hatred, woe, howlings of rage, and scornful laughter.

Of course, opera had depicted such emotions for a long, long time—all of these elements occur in Mozart's Don Giovanni, written more than 100 years earlier. What is new is the social position of the characters. With Cav and Pag, along with Bizet's Carmen (1875), we move away from dramas about people of noble birth acted out in remote historical settings. In early opera, the action on the stage reflected the preoccupations of the aristocratic audience; later, for audiences of a wider social range, the music served to make the emotions of remote characters accessible, to show that persons of high rank are swayed by the same passions as the audience that listens. (Though in fairness to a few other antecedents, Verdi's Luisa Miller is about a farmer's daughter; and though a baron and a marquis make incidental appearances, La Traviata is about what happens when the respectable middle-class gets involved with the demi-monde.) In the music of Cavalleria and Pagliacci we find the emotions of the lowborn ennobled, given size and importance. Characters in these operas frequent taverns and go

The Metropolitan Opera 2015-16

NEW PRODUCTIONS

OTELLO • LULU • LES PÊCHEURS DE PERLES (The Pearl Fishers)
MANON LESCAUT • ROBERTO DEVEREUX • ELEKTRA

REPERTORY

TURANDOT • IL TROVATORE • ANNA BOLENA • TANNHÄUSER
TOSCA • RIGOLETTO • LA BOHÈME • DIE FLEDERMAUS
LA DONNA DEL LAGO • THE BARBER OF SEVILLE
CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA / PAGLIACCI • MARIA STUARDA
MADAMA BUTTERFLY • LE NOZZE DI FIGARO
DON PASQUALE • L'ELISIR D'AMORE • SIMON BOCCANEGRA
DIE ENTFÜHRUNG AUS DEM SERAIL (The Abduction from the Seraglio)

Aleksandrs Antonenko as Otello

PHOTO: KRISTIAN SCHULLER/METROPOLITAN OPERA

metopera.org 212.362.6000

Program Note CONTINUED

to blacksmiths and work in the fields and rub down donkeys—and experience love and hatred, woe, howlings of rage, and scornful laughter; these are part of what Verdi meant by “the elements of success.” The emphasis in the verismo genre is on the size of emotion, as a look at some of the marks of expression in the score of Cavalleria demonstrates: con disperazione, con angoscia, con dolore, con amarezza (“with bitterness”), nel colma dell’ira (“at a peak of fury”), con forza, and, of course, con suprema passione.

Much has been made of the swiftness of action in these operas, and indeed there are striking, sudden transformations, mostly brought about by emotional upheaval. After the few measures of Santuzza’s narrative, the affable Alfio sings that his love for Lola has turned to hatred; wildly he calls for vengeance and blood. Alfio and Turiddu go off together and a moment later a peasant woman screams that Turiddu has been killed; Canio erupts and sings that he is no longer a clown. What Shaw wrote of Cavalleria is equally true of its partner: the opera, he said, is “a youthfully vigorous piece of work, with abundant snatches of melody broken obstreperously off on one dramatic pretext or another.”

But it is also necessary to observe that at the same time both operas are slow-moving, traditional pieces, with arias, duets, and choruses formally worked out, before being broken “obstreperously” off. The Easter chorus and drinking song in Cavalleria, the bell chorus and Nedda’s aria in Pagliacci may tell us a little about character, but mostly they sketch in background and atmosphere, and a very prettified version of peasant life it is. Cavalleria, in fact, is nearly half over before anything much happens and, oddly, even then most of the real action occurs offstage. For all the violence of the emotions the music depicts, we see only an ear getting bitten. But all the atmospheric musical genre-painting is what gives the culminating events their context and much of their effect: the swiftness of the tragic action is like the swiftness of most of the crucial events in real life, rudely intruding on the ordinariness of the daily.

Critics have always tended to condescend to these operas, especially to Cavalleria. And it is true that the emotions in Mascagni’s opera are uncomplicated, the tunes sturdy and simple, the orchestration borderline crude. Pagliacci is more sophisticated dramatically and musically in its exploitation of the perennial theme of theatrical illusion and reality. But each of the operas has had diverse and even surprising admirers—Puccini, of course, but also Massenet, Debussy, Sibelius, even Gustav Mahler. And for more than 120 years the loyalty of the public has never once wavered. That’s the kind of prolonged success it’s hard to argue with.

—Richard Dyer

A black and white close-up portrait of Kristine Opolais, looking slightly to the left with a serious expression. Her hair is styled in soft waves, and she is wearing dark lipstick. The background is a plain, light color.

STARRING

KRISTINE OPOLAIS
JONAS KAUFMANN

"I ONLY
WANT YOUR HEART"

MANON LESCAUT
PUCCINI

TICKETS
START AT $32

FEBRUARY 12-MARCH 11
metopera.org

The Cast

Fabio Luisi

CONDUCTOR (GENOA, ITALY)

THIS SEASON Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci, Le Nozze di Figaro, and the new production of Manon Lescaut at the Met; Wozzeck, I Puritani, Falstaff, Die Zauberflöte, and Tosca at the Zurich Opera; L'Elisir d'Amore at La Scala; Reimann's Lear at the Paris Opera; and concerts in Europe and the U.S.

MET APPEARANCES Macbeth, The Merry Widow, La Cenerentola, Madama Butterfly, Un Ballo in Maschera, Les Troyens, Aida, Don Giovanni, Manon, La Traviata, Elektra, Hansel and Gretel, Tosca, Lulu, Simon Boccanegra, Die Ägyptische Helena, Turandot, Ariadne auf Naxos, Rigoletto, Don Carlo (debut, 2005), and Wagner's Ring cycle.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS He is Principal Conductor of the Met, General Music Director of the Zurich Opera, Principal Conductor Designate of the Danish National Symphony Orchestra (taking up that position in 2017), and former Chief Conductor of the Vienna Symphony. He made his La Scala debut in 2011 with Manon, his Salzburg Festival debut in 2003 leading Strauss's Die Liebe der Danae, and his American debut with the Lyric Opera of Chicago leading Rigoletto. He also appears regularly with the Vienna State Opera, Munich's Bavarian State Opera, and Berlin's Deutsche Oper and Staatsoper.

Barbara Frittoli

SOPRANO (MILAN, ITALY)

THIS SEASON Mimì in La Bohème and Nedda in Pagliacci at the Met and Amelia in Simon Boccanegra at the Vienna State Opera, Opera Australia, and Barcelona's Liceu.

MET APPEARANCES Elisabeth in Don Carlo, Vitellia in La Clemenza di Tito, the title roles of Luisa Miller and Suor Angelica, Donna Anna and Donna Elvira in Don Giovanni, Micaëla in Carmen (debut, 1995), Fiordiligi in Così fan tutte, Desdemona in Otello, and Amelia.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS Notable performances include the Countess in Le Nozze di Figaro in Ferrara, Desdemona at the Salzburg Festival and Turin's Teatro Regio, and Fiordiligi at the Vienna State Opera, Covent Garden and Ravenna Festival. She has recently sung the Countess in Madrid, Munich's Bavarian State Opera, and Paris Opera, the title role of Thaïs in Turin, Fiordiligi in Valencia and Vienna, Luisa Miller in Zurich, Mimì on tour with the Teatro Regio in Tokyo and Yokohama, Alice in Falstaff and Mimì in Zurich, Donna Elvira at Washington National Opera and La Scala, the title role of Adriana Lecouvreur in Barcelona, and Alice in Buenos Aires.

Stream Hundreds of Met Performances on Your Favorite Devices

Anna Netrebko in Tchaikovsky's Iolanta

New Apps for Android™, Roku®, and Samsung Smart TV Available Now!

Met Opera on Demand delivers instant and unlimited online access to more than 550 full-length Met performances—including more than 85 stunning high-definition presentations from the award-winning Live in HD series, along with classic telecasts and radio broadcasts spanning from 1935 to 2015.

Experience these extraordinary Met performances on your TV, tablet, smartphone, or computer. Download the new apps—as well as the highly rated iPad® app—for free, and visit the Met website to subscribe or sign up for a free 7-day trial.

metoperaondemand.org

Photo: Marty Sohl/Metropolitan Opera
Apple, the Apple logo, and iPad are trademarks of Apple Inc., registered in the U.S. and other countries. App Store is a service mark of Apple Inc. Android is trademark of Google Inc. ROKU is a registered trademark of Roku, Inc. in the United States and other countries.

Violeta Urmana

MEZZO-SOPRANO (KAZLU RUDOS, LITHUANIA)

THIS SEASON Santuzza in Cavalleria Rusticana at the Met, Kundry in Parsifal at the Vienna State Opera, the Princess in Suor Angelica in Rome, Judith in Bluebeard's Castle at Vienna's Musikverein, and concerts in Prague, Helsinki, and Aix-en-Provence.

MET APPEARANCES Aida and Amneris in Aida, Odabella in Attila, Maddalena in Andrea Chénier, Kundry (debut, 2001), Eboli in Don Carlo, and the title roles of Tosca, Ariadne auf Naxos, and La Gioconda.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS She started her operatic career as a mezzo-soprano, and after singing the role of Sieglinde in Die Walküre at the Bayreuth Festival made her soprano debut in 2002 at La Scala in the title role of Iphigénie en Aulide. Since that time she has sung Maddalena at the Vienna State Opera, Isolde in Tristan und Isolde in Rome and Naples, Leonora in La Forza del Destino in Vienna and at the Paris Opera, Gioconda and Leonora at Covent Garden, Tosca in Florence and Los Angeles, Santuzza at the Paris Opera, La Scala, and in St. Petersburg, and Azucena in Il Trovatore at the Dutch National Opera. She has also sung the title role of Norma in Dresden, Elisabeth in Don Carlo in Turin, Tosca in Florence and Los Angeles, Aida at La Scala, and the title role of Catalani's La Wally at the Vienna Konzerthaus.

Roberto Alagna

TENOR (CLICHY-SOUS-BOIS, FRANCE)

THIS SEASON Canio in Pagliacci and Pinkerton in Madama Butterfly at the Met, the title role of Meyerbeer's Vasco da Gama (the original version of L'Africaine) at Berlin's Deutsche Oper, Nemorino in L'Elisir d'Amore at the Paris Opera, Cavaradossi in Tosca at the Vienna State Opera, and Eléazar in La Juive at Munich's Bavarian State Opera.

MET APPEARANCES The title roles of Werther, Don Carlo, and Faust, Don José in Carmen, Cavaradossi, Radamès in Aida, Ruggero in La Rondine, Turiddu in Cavalleria Rusticana, Rodolfo in La Bohème (debut, 1996), the Duke in Rigoletto, Nemorino, and Roméo in Roméo et Juliette.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS He has recently sung Rodrigue in Massenet's Le Cid and Lancelot in Chausson's Le Roi Arthus at the Paris Opera, the Condemned Man in David Alagna's Le Dernier Jour d'un Condamné in Avignon, Don José at the Vienna State Opera, Deutsche Oper Berlin, and Covent Garden, Cavaradossi at Covent Garden, Werther at the Paris Opera and in Bilbao, Aeneas in Les Troyens at the Deutsche Oper Berlin, and the title role of Otello in concert at Paris's Salle Pleyel. He has also sung Nemorino at Covent Garden, Pinkerton

DONIZETTI

ROBERTO DEVEREUX

OPENS MARCH 24

Starring Sondra Radvanovsky

Tickets from $32

metopera.org

PHOTO: KRISTIAN SCHULLER / METROPOLITAN OPERA

The Cast CONTINUED

in Barcelona, Gustavo in Un Ballo in Maschera in Vienna, Rodolfo at La Scala and Covent Garden, Roméo at the Lyric Opera of Chicago, and Gabriele Adorno in Simon Boccanegra at the Salzburg Easter Festival.

George Gagnidze

BARITONE (TBILISI, REPUBLIC OF GEORGIA)

THIS SEASON The title role of Rigoletto and Tonio in Pagliacci at the Met, Rigoletto at the Deutsche Oper Berlin, Amonasro in Aida at Paris's Bastille Opera, the title role of Falstaff in Tokyo, and Tonio in Los Angeles.

MET APPEARANCES Amonasro, Scarpia in Tosca, Shaklovity in Khovanshchina, Alfio in Cavalleria Rusticana, the title role of Macbeth, and Rigoletto (debut, 2009).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS Recent performances include Scarpia at the Paris Opera, La Scala, and Vienna State Opera, Amonasro and Rigoletto at La Scala, the title role of Simon Boccanegra in Hamburg, Rigoletto at the Aix-en-Provence Festival, and the title role of Nabucco in Palermo. He has also sung Macbeth at the Deutsche Oper Berlin, Rigoletto at the Los Angeles Opera and Parma's Verdi Festival, Miller in Luisa Miller in Valencia, and Germont in La Traviata at La Scala. He has also appeared at Madrid's Teatro Real, Paris's Bastille Opera, and Genoa's Teatro Carlo Felice. He made his operatic debut in 1996 at the Tbilisi Opera House as Renato in Un Ballo in Maschera.

Alexey Lavrov

BARITONE (PECHORA, RUSSIA)

THIS SEASON Schaunard in La Bohème, Silvio in Pagliacci, and Malatesta in Don Pasquale at the Met and the title role of Rachmaninoff's Aleko with Opera Carolina.

MET APPEARANCES Dominik in Arabella, Flemish Deputy in Don Carlo (debut, 2013), Herald in Otello, Yamadori in Madama Butterfly, and Huntsman in Rusalka.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS Mercutio in Roméo et Juliette for his debut at the Festival Internacional de Ópera Alejandro Granda in Lima, Peru, Demetrius in A Midsummer Night's Dream for his debut at Moscow's Stanislavsky and Nemirovich-Danchenko Music Theatre, Robert in Iolanta and Silvio at the Mikhailovsky Theatre, the title role of Eugene Onegin at Germany's Kammeroper Schloss Rheinsberg Festival and on tour with the Mikhailovsky Theatre in Japan, Donald in Billy Budd in Santiago, and a Flemish Deputy at the Théâtre du Capitole Toulouse. He was a member of the Young Artist Program at the Bolshoi Opera and is a graduate of the Met's Lindemann Young Artist Development Program.

Met*Gift*Card

The Perfect Gift for Opera Lovers!

Met Gift Cards, in five elegant designs, are available at the box office, in the Met Opera Shop, and online. Cards may be redeemed for tickets, merchandise, Met memberships, and more.

Learn more at metopera.org/giftcard

Yonghoon Lee
TENOR (SEOUL, SOUTH KOREA)

THIS SEASON Manrico in Il Trovatore and Turiddu in Cavalleria Rusticana at the Met, Don José in Carmen and Turiddu at Covent Garden, Manrico at Munich's Bavarian State Opera, and Don José with Opera Australia.

MET APPEARANCES Ismaele in Nabucco, Don José, and the title role of Don Carlo (debut, 2010).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS He has recently sung Manrico at Lyric Opera of Chicago, Don José and Manrico with Munich's Bavarian State Opera, and Calàf in Turandot with the Australian Opera. He has also sung the title role of Andrea Chénier in Zurich, Hagenbach in Catalani's La Wally for his debut in Geneva, Calàf in Munich, Don José at Covent Garden, and Arrigo in Verdi's La Battaglia di Legnano in Hamburg. Additional performances include Manrico at Vienna's Theater an der Wien, Turiddu at La Scala, Cavaradossi in Tosca and the title role of the French version of Don Carlos at the Vienna State Opera, Don José in Berlin, and Macduff in Macbeth at the Glyndebourne Festival.

Ambrogio Maestri
BARITONE (PAVIA, ITALY)

THIS SEASON Alfio in Cavalleria Rusticana and the title role of Don Pasquale at the Met, the title role of Rigoletto and Don Pasquale at the Vienna State Opera, Dulcamara in L'Elisir d'Amore at the Paris Opera, Rigoletto in Florence, the title role of Falstaff in Chicago and Budapest, and Scarpia in Tosca in Munich and at Berlin's Deutsche Oper.

MET APPEARANCES Falstaff, Dulcamara, and Amonasro in Aida (debut, 2004).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS He has sung Falstaff at La Scala, Covent Garden, the Vienna State Opera, Munich's Bavarian State Opera, Théâtre des Champs-Élysées, Dresden's Semperoper, Berlin's Deutsche Oper, and the Salzburg Festival; Amonasro at La Scala, in Vienna, Munich, Barcelona, and at the Arena di Verona; Rigoletto in Berlin, Paris, Naples, and Washington, D.C.; Germont in La Traviata and Iago in Otello at La Scala and in Venice; the title role of Simon Boccanegra in Turin and Berlin; the title role of Nabucco in Vienna, Verona, and Munich; Dulcamara at La Scala and in Paris, London, Vienna, and Munich; and Scarpia in Barcelona, Zurich, and at the Puccini Festival in Torre del Lago.

Facilities and Services

THE ARNOLD AND MARIE SCHWARTZ GALLERY MET

Art gallery located in the South Lobby featuring leading artists. Open Monday through Friday, 6pm through last intermission; Saturday, noon through last intermission of evening performances.

ASSISTIVE LISTENING SYSTEM AND BINOCULARS

Wireless headsets, which work with the FM assistive listening system to amplify sound, are available at the coat check station on the South Concourse Level before performances. Binoculars are also available for rental at the coat check station on the South Concourse level. The rental cost is $5. A major credit card or driver's license is required as a deposit.

BLIND AND VISUALLY IMPAIRED

Large print programs are available free of charge from the ushers. Braille synopses of many operas are available free of charge. Please contact an usher. Tickets for no-view score desk seats may be purchased by calling the Met Opera Guild at 212-769-7028.

BOX OFFICE

Monday–Saturday, 10am–8pm; Sunday, noon–6pm. The Box Office closes at 8pm on non-performance evenings or on evenings with no intermission. Box Office Information: 212-362-6000.

CHECK ROOM

On Concourse level (Founders Hall).

FIRST AID

Doctor in attendance during performances; contact an usher for assistance.

LECTURE SERIES

Opera-related courses, pre-performance lectures, master classes, and more are held throughout the performance season at the Opera Learning Center. For tickets and information, call 212-769-7028.

LOST AND FOUND

Security office at Stage Door. Monday–Friday, 2pm–4pm; 212-799-3100, ext. 2499.

MET OPERA SHOP

The Met Opera Shop is adjacent to the North Box Office, 212-580-4090. Open Monday–Saturday, 10am–final intermission; Sunday, noon–6pm.

PUBLIC TELEPHONES

Telephones with volume controls and TTY Public Telephone located in Founders Hall on the Concourse level.

RESTAURANT AND REFRESHMENT FACILITIES

The Grand Tier Restaurant features creative contemporary American cuisine, and the Revlon Bar offers panini, crostini, and a full service bar. Both are open two hours prior to the Met Opera curtain time to any Lincoln Center ticket holder for pre-curtain dining. Pre-ordered intermission dining is also available for Met ticket holders. For reservations call 212-799-3400.

RESTROOMS

Wheelchair-accessible restrooms are on the Dress Circle, Grand Tier, Parterre, and Founders Hall levels.

SEAT CUSHIONS

Available in the South Check Room. Major credit card or driver's license required for deposit.

SCHOOL PARTNERSHIPS

For information contact the Met Opera Guild Education Department, 212-769-7022.

SCORE-DESK TICKET PROGRAM

Tickets for score desk seats in the Family Circle boxes may be purchased by calling the Met Opera Guild at 212-769-7028. These no-view seats provide an affordable way for students to study an opera's score during a performance.

TOUR GUIDE SERVICE

Backstage tours of the Opera House are held during the Met season on most weekdays at 3:15pm, and on select Sundays at 10:30am and/or 1:30pm. For tickets and information, call 212-769-7028. Tours of Lincoln Center daily; call 212-875-5351 for availability.

WEBSITE

www.metopera.org

WHEELCHAIR ACCOMMODATIONS

Telephone 212-799-3100, ext. 2204. Wheelchair entrance at Concourse level.

The exits indicated by a red light and the sign nearest the seat you occupy are the shortest routes to the street. In the event of fire or other emergency, please do not run—walk to that exit.

In compliance with New York City Department of Health regulations, smoking is prohibited in all areas of this theater.

Patrons are reminded that in deference to the performing artists and the seated audience, those who leave the auditorium during the performance will not be readmitted while the performance is in progress.

The photographing or sound recording of any performance, or the possession of any device for such photographing or sound recording inside this theater, without the written permission of the management, is prohibited by law. Offenders may be ejected and liable for damages and other lawful remedies.

Use of cellular telephones and electronic devices for any purpose, including email and texting, is prohibited in the auditorium at all times. Be sure to turn off all devices before entering the auditorium.