Your ticket should look like this and include a full barcode. If it does not, make sure you have Adobe Reader version 7 or later. You can download the application for free at <http://www.adobe.com/reader>. Please view and save the PDF of your ticket using Adobe Reader and then print it.

A facility fee may be included above for the ongoing maintenance of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Latecomers and those who exit during the performance will not be admitted to the auditorium until an appropriate interval. Photography and recording is prohibited throughout the opera house. Use of cell phones and pagers is prohibited in the auditorium. Please note that television cameras will be present in the auditorium for performances transmitted live in high definition and for broadcast tapings.

No refunds or exchanges. Casting subject to change without notice. Please check curtain time. If you are unable to use your ticket, you may donate it for resale at the Box Office or by calling Met Ticket Service. To order tickets or for customer assistance, call Met Ticket Service at 212-362-6000.

The barcode allows only one entry per scan. Unauthorized duplication or sale of this ticket may prevent your admittance to the event.
